

Investment Objective & Strategy

SPCAPITAL GLOBAL TECHNOLOGY INVESTMENT FUND (“GTF” or the “Fund”), managed by São Pedro Capital Investimentos S.A. (“SPC” or the “Manager”), aims to achieve long-term capital appreciation by allocating capital primarily in shares of technology-enabled global companies listed on global stock exchanges, with a particular focus on companies located in the Americas, Europe, and Asia. GTF is incorporated in the Cayman Islands, with its monthly NAV denominated in U.S. dollars, and with no currency hedge. The Fund seeks to deliver returns above the MSCI All Country World Index (“MSCI ACWI” or “ACWI”).

Certain Risk Factors

- Market Risk: Fluctuations in asset prices due to market conditions may negatively impact the value of the Fund.
- Macroeconomic and Government Policy Risk: Changes in economic, fiscal, or regulatory policies may affect the Fund’s performance and investment strategy.
- Regulatory and Legal Risk: Amendments to applicable legislation or judicial disputes may adversely affect the Fund’s assets or operations.
- Concentration Risk: The Fund may concentrate its investments in specific assets, sectors, or regions, increasing its exposure to particular events.
- Key Person/Manager Risk: The Fund’s performance depends on the skill, experience, and decisions of its manager, posing risks in the event of replacement or mismanagement.
- Credit Risk: The Fund is exposed to the risk of default by counterparties, which may result in losses from non-fulfillment of contractual obligations.
- Liquidity Risk: The Fund may face difficulties in selling assets quickly or at desired prices, especially in less liquid markets.
- Foreign Market Risk: International economic, political, or regulatory factors may affect the Fund’s assets with foreign exposure.
- Derivatives Risk: The use of derivatives may amplify gains but also increase potential losses and Fund volatility.
- Leverage Risk: Leverage may magnify the negative effects of adverse market movements, impacting the Fund’s net asset value.
- Negative Net Asset Value Risk: In extreme scenarios, the Fund may report a negative net asset value, resulting in total loss for investors.
- Technological and Innovation Risks: The Fund invests in tech issuers exposed to rapid change, regulatory uncertainty, and key operational risks, which may cause high volatility and potential capital loss.
